Carnegie's Letter Resented,

NEW YORK, July 25.—A long letter from Andrew Carnegie on the subject of prefer-ential tariffs is published here, says a London dispatch to the Times. The writer prediets that it will be found impossible for Great Britain to discriminate in favor of Canadian products and against those of the United States without inaugurating a tariff war in which she will suffer defeat. The London Times attacks the letter editorially and declares: "We think more highly of Arcerican instincts of fair play than to believe that an honest attempt to improve our own position without injuring theirs will call forth the indignation pictured by Mr.

Departure of Their Majesties from Dublin for the Marquis of Londonderry's Residence.

DUBLIN, July 25 .- King Edward and Queen Alexandra left Dublin by train shortly before noon to-day, accompanied by Princess Victoria and their suites on their way to Newtownards, County Down, where they will visit the Marquis of Londonderry at his Mount Stewart residence. Notwithstanding the rain the royal party drove from the vice regal lodge in open carriages and halted at Phoenix Park to review thousands of school children whose volume of shrill cheering, while one of their number gave a bouquet to the Queen, was one of the most touching features during the reception of their Majesties, which, throughout, was remarkable in its enthu-

> The royal train, drawn by an engine decorated with garlands of flowers, arrived at Newtownards without any noteworthy incident, excepting that the country people crowded every vantage point along the line and cheered the passing train. The little town of Newtownards was gaily decorated and its streets were filled cheering crowds. The Marquis and Mar-chioness of Londonderry and the county and municipal officers met the King and Queen at the railway station and the royal party drove to Mount Stewart. After the King left Dublin it was announced that he had donated $5,000 to the poor of the city.

TURKISH SHIP LAUNCHED

CRUISER MEDJIDIA, WHICH WAS CONSTRUCTED BY THE CRAMPS.

Evaded by Permitting American Woman to Break the Customary Bottle of Wine.

PHILADELPHIA, July 25.-In the presence of a distinguished gathering of diplomats, foreign and American naval officers, and prominent citizens of Philadelphia, the Turkish cruiser Medjidia, the first warship ever built here for the Ottoman Empire, was launched to-day at Cramps' shipyard. The sponsor for the new ship was Mrs. Edwin S. Cramp, and the baptism was an evasion of the Koran's teaching turned into a graceful compliment of the American people. The Koran forbids a Turkish woman from participating in a christening at which wine is used. The difficulty was overcome by the selection of an American woman, Mrs. Cramp, to break the bottle on the bow of the sea-fighter.

The Turkish officials present included Chekib Bey, Turkish minister to the United Motorman Fair, Motorman Charles Ream States, and Lieutenant Commander Sabri and an unidentified man. Bey, and Lieutenant Ali Bey, of the Turkish navy, inspectors of machinery and hull construction, respectively, on duty at the shipyard of the Sultan. Among the other Boutakoff, naval attache of the Russian embassy at Washington, and Senor Quesada, minister from Cuba.

> In 1900 Ahmed Pasha, chief engineer of the Ottoman navy, came to this country for the purpose of examining the American system of naval construction. As a result of his investigation the Turkish government contracted with the Cramp Ship-building Company for the construction of the Medidia, which is of the protected cruiser type. The general dimensions and charasteristics of the vessel are as follows: Length on load line, 300 feet; beam extreme, 42 feet; draft, mean, 16 feet; displacement, 3,300 tons; speed, 22 knots. The armament consists of twenty-two six-inch rapid fire guns, 45 calibres long; eight 4.7 rapid fire guns. 50 calibres; six three-pounder rapid fire guns, 50 calibres; six seven-pounder rapid fire guns, one three-inch field gun, two torpedo guns for fourteen-inch White-head torpedoes. The vessel is provided with a strong ram at the bow, strengthened by the protective deck, which forms an integral part of the ram. The engines are two in number of the inverted, triple-expansion type, driving twin screws. These engines will be capable of developing upwards of 12,000 indicated horsepower. The boilers are of the improved Niclause type. There will be a complete hospital on the ship and special attention has been given to ventila-

Buyers of the Bonds Alone Will Determine Whether the Proposed

WASHINGTON, July 25.-Careful inquiry n executive circles fails to discover any evidence of an attempt on the part of the United States government or its agencies to interfere in any way with the placing of the $35,000,000 Cuban loan. When the loan was first projected some inquiries were unofficially made by the Cuban agencies as to whether the loan would be repugnant to the Platt amendment. Secretary Root, being then in charge of Cuban affairs, without making any official statement, let it be known that the only test that would be applied would relate to the ability of Cuba to repay the loan and meet the interest. It would be for the buyers of the bonds themselves to determine whether or not the loan was sound, for the United States government did not propose at that stage to enter into the subject, and the bond purchasers, realizing the exact risk involved, would fix their bids upon that basis. As far as can be learned that is the situation now. INTERNAL REVENUE RECEIPTS.

LEO'S BODY AT REST.

on the bier. The major domo put beside the body two silk purses containing coins of sliver and a bronze medal struck during Leo's pontificate. A eulogy, written in magnificent Latin and setting forth the great events of Pope Leo's life and reign, inclosed in a metal tube, was also interred with the When all had been arranged the supreme prayer was said and the last benediction given. All present joined in. Half suppressed IN THREE CASKETS.

The second coffin was of lead and very heavy. On the cover, at the head, was cross, just below which was a skull and crossbones, while below there were the arms of the late Pope, with the triple crown, but without the keys, as they signify living victory. This coffin was sealed personally with the arms of the camerlengo. The major domo of the chapter of the basilica lighted a brazer, which was used in soldering the coffin, producing sounds and sights strange to hear and see in a church. These two coffins were then inclosed in a third

The sad duties were softened and smoothed by the sweetness of the singing choir and the prayers of the clergy. When the last supreme moment came the heavy coffins, weighing in all 1,322 pounds, were rolled out of the chapel, preceded by mace bearers and choirs singing as they went, and followed by all the cardinals, among whom the bowed figure of Oreglia, the strong upright Vannutelli brothers, the white-haired Agliardi, and the immense, black-browed Svampa, were the most conspicuous. Pulleys were attached to the coffin and soon, to the strains of the "Benedictus Dominus Deus Israel." it was hoisted into the stone sarcophagus, above the door, where it will remain until the grateful cardinals created by the late Pope shall

Color and life was given to the whole scene by gendarmes and platine and noble guards. The last named have never left the remains since the Pope died.

Above the cardinals behind a grating were the ladies of the aristocracy and the family of the Pope. The diplomatic body was also here as were many of the Roman aristocracy, led by Prince Marrimo (who claims descent from Quintis Fabius Maxim) in his uniform of papal postmaster general. General Decharette, the oldest veteran of the papal army who fought as commarder of zouaves against the Italians in 1870, was also among those who attended the ceremony.

day, as the noon gun from the Castle of St. Angelo was fired, the lying-in-state of the fate Pope's body came quietly to an end, and the few who still lingered at the gates of the Chapel of the Sacrament in St. Peter's were ordered to leave and some two or three hundred persons, including Cardinal Gossins, who arrived from Mechlin just in time, passed slowly from St. Peter's into the sunlit piazza and the world's last farewell to the great Pope was over. Ten minutes later Italian infantry and gendarmes poured out of the basilica and lined up on the steps in imposing array. The outer gates were then closed and the body of the late Pope was left to the tender care of those who had watched by Leo XIII in his lifetime. The preparations for this evening's interment were immediately com-

While the bells of the basilica rang out their daily melodious noon chorus the troops formed in column and were marched to the barracks. Their historic incursion into Vatican territory ended without the slightest friction. It is estimated that 80,000 people passed the catafalque since Thursday morning. Much comment has been occasioned here by the fact that the Italian troops stationed in St. Peter's to-day gave a military salute to Cardinal Puzyna Kniaz von Kozielsko, the bishop of Cracow, when he arrived at the basilica to view the body of Pope Leo. The cardinal responded to the salute by raising his hat. The explanation of the incident, which created endless gossip, probably lies in the fact that the Italian government recently issued an order that cardinals entering Italy should be Cholera Infantum treated with the same courtesies as are accorded to princes of the blood.

THE FISHERMAN'S RING. It Was Not on the Pope's Finger-

Probably Hidden for Safety. ROME, July 25 .- When the time came to take the Fisherman's ring from Pope Leo's finger after he died, it is learned another was found in its place. This did not surprise anyone as generally the Pontiff does not wear it, the ring being less of an ornament than an unused gem. At the first meeting of the Cardinals after the Pope's death, when the famous ring should have been broken, the ceremony was omitted and it was put on record that the ring, for the moment, has not been found.

The Fisherman's ring is known to have been lost twice before. Among the papers preserved at Simincas, near Valladolid, Spain, is a letter from Count Olivares, then Spanish ambassador at Rome, Pompey III, dated Sept. 5, 1588, saying: "Sixtus V has been very ill from anxiety and vexation. The vexation to which I refer was at missing the Fisherman's ring. He carried with him in a purse and he discovered that he had been robbed of it by a cup bearer. Unless the publicity given to the affair obliges him to punish the man, he Pope would die rather than to have the world know that his confidence had been under servant and yielding to curiosity he granted it, whereupon the man entered, and kneeling said: "Your Holiness, I have to tell you what has been a loss to you but to the world also. After these words the man proffered the Pope the Fisherman's ring which had been found. Pope Leo looked at it with pleasure and solemnly putting it on his finger said: "The thanks of the church are due to you, my son. I shall see that you are rewarded." The next day the man called at the treasury and was given three dollars. The ring has never been seen, as Pope Leo privately hid it or put it away unseen by any one, so great was his fear of losing it again. So far it has not been discovered but the Vatican authorities believe the ring will undoubtedly be found. On two other occasions the ring was taken from the papacy by force. In 1879 the French Republicans invading the Papal States, despoiled Pius VI of his valuables, and among them the Fisherman's ring. It was returned the next day as it had no in-

RECEPTION TO DIPLOMATS.

Foreign Representatives at the Vatican Meet the Cardinals.

ROME, July 25 .- The most imposing ceremony during the day was the reception by the Sacred College, in the hall of the Consistory, of the whole diplomatic body accredited to the Vatican. All the diplomats were gorgeous uniforms and the cardinals had on their magnificent violet robes and were seated in huge armchairs, according to right of precedence. The Portuguese ambassador, M. Martens Du Atnas, dean of the diplomatic corps, was at the head of the body. He delivered an address in French, expressing the sorrow of all the powers at the death of Pope Leo, who had acquired the universal esteem of the world.

"The diplomatic body accredited to the Holy See wish to present to the Sacred College their profound condolence on the occasion of the sorrowful and irreparable oss it had sustained and which puts all Christianity in mourning. The virtue and high wisdom of the sovereign Pontiff Leo XIII will have a luminous track in the history of the world. The diplomatic body beg your Eminences to accept their conlolences, while we express the hope that God, in His divine wisdom and great bounty, will inspire the Sacred College in choosng a sovereign Pontiff destined to maintain the prestige of the church.' Cardinal Oreglia, in reply, said: "Your Excellency, as dean of the diplomatic body accredited to the Holy See, has nobly interpreted the feeling of all your colleagues in the sorrowful circumstances of the death of the venerated Pontiff, his Holiness. Leo XIII, of glorious memory. The whole world weeps with us at such an irreparable loss. The Sacred College, feeling in a spe-cial manner this terrible circumstance which has struck the apostolic Holy See and the Catholic world, highly esteems the condolences received from the sovereigns and rulers of states, and this new proof of sympathy which the diplomatic corps has offered to-day to us is profoundly appreciated. Believe me, Mr. Ambassador, that we were extremely grateful to your Excellency, and to each of your worthy colleagues, for your sincere participation in our sorrow, while the condolences expressed with so much delicacy through the intermediary of your Excellency in the name of the diplo matic body are true consolation for our afflicted hearts. The Sacred College is preparing to exercise the highest among prerogatives in electing him who will govern the church as vicar of Jesus Christ. In such a grave and solemn moment God will certainly grant us the special help and grace necessary to accomplish the heavy task imposed upon us. With these sentiments the Sacred College, on the eve of the conclave, takes leave of the diplomatic body, renewing to them the expression of its warmest gratitude.' At the conclusion of the address the mem bers of the diplomatic body kissed the hands of all the cardinals and especially congratulated Cardinal Oreglia on the sentiments he had expressed and which produced the best of impressions.

DID NOT WALK OUT WHEN W. A MILLER REPORTED FOR DUTY.

No Action Will Be Taken for Thirty Days, When It Is Expected the Matter Will Have Been Decided.

WASHINGTON, July 25 .- The Bookbinders' Union, which has been fighting the reinstatement of W. A. Miller, the assistant foreman in the Government Printing Office, who was dismissed because of his expulsion from the union and later ordered reinstated under an executive order, did not walk out when Miller resumed work to-day. Miller reported about 10 o'clock this morning and was assigned to duty. He remained only a few minutes and left after explaining that Saturday was a short day and he would wait until Monday for further work. The union officials announced to-day that there would be no action on their part for thirty days, during which they expected the question would be solved by the . Public Printer. It is expected that a national arbitration council will meet to-morrow to

The union officials to-day called on Sec-retary Cortelyou and Public Printer Palmer and left with them a statement regarding what was done at the meeting of the bookbinders last night. The statement set forth that Miller would be permitted, under protest, to continue in the position to which he has been reinstated, and that there will be nothing doing at present by the bookbinders that would interefere with the work of the office. It gave assurance that this action is inspired by a regard for the action of the President and for the federal statutes. and expresses the belief that the charges against Miller will be substantiated on in vestigation.
